

THE OLD WOMAN AND THE EMPTY CASK.

Find the Woman's Companion.

An old Woman found an Empty Cask, from which some choice old wine had lately been drawn off.

She applied her nose to the bung-hole, and sniffed long and eagerly at the delicious aroma which lingered in the dark interior of the Empty Cask.

"Oh, how good must this wine have been!" she exclaimed, "when the very dregs are so delicious."

MORAL—It is no difficult matter to form a just notion of what the prime of anyone's life was from the spirit and flavor which remain even in the last dregs.

The Week In Society.

A SONG OF LOVE.

In the blue morn, he new morn,
Beneath the sun-filled sky,
Oh, I met a little Love,
When all the clouds were high:
A little Love, a wistful Love—
I would not have him stay;
I loosed his hands and kissed his lips,
And bade him fly away.
In the warm noon, the sweet noon,
When all the air was gold,
Oh, I met a fair great Love,
With merry eyes and bold;
So wise, so strong, so wonderful;
Too high for my estate;
He loosed my hands and kissed my lips,
And left me desolate.
In the deep night, the cold night,
Who comes through wind and rain?
Little Love I bade away
Is at my side again.
And he hath warmed my hand in his,
And kissed my wet eyes dry,
Oh, strange that he should comfort me,
For that great Love gone by.

AWAY TO SCHOOL.

Perhaps never before have so many Paducah young people planned college courses as this fall. Some have already gone to school, others will leave within the next few days and by the first of October all will have left to take up their winter's work. Misses Blanch Hills, Rella Coleman and Fannie Coleman will leave either tomorrow or Monday for Hollins, Va., accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hills. Misses Frances Wallace and Belle Cave, accompanied by Miss Wallace's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Wallace, will leave for Hollins tonight. Mr. Robert Wallace will also leave tonight to go to the Princeton preparatory school at Princeton, N. J. Messrs. Charles Cox and David Koger will leave Monday for Castle Heights school at Lebanon, Tenn. Messrs. Harold Amoss and Robert Acker left a week ago for the A. and M. college at Lexington, Ky. Mr. Harold Fisher left Friday for Notre Dame, Ind., and Master George Cornelius, Leo Keller and Milton Wallerstein have also gone to Notre Dame. Miss Lillian Gregory, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. O. L. Gregory, left Thursday for a school at Lake Forest, Ill. Mr. Robert Leigh has gone to Murfreesboro, Tenn.; Mr. Marshall Puryear to Lebanon and Mr. Dennis Halpin to St. Mary's, Ky. Misses Mary Scott and Kate Crumbach will leave a week from tomorrow for Oxford, Ohio, and Miss Robbie Loving will leave in a few weeks for Staunton, Va. Miss Monima Hopkins will leave the first of October for Cincinnati to study music. Miss Frances Terrell will leave the last of September for the Gardner school in New York and Miss Lillie May Winstead will go about the same time to Miss Latta's school in New York. Miss Ethel Brooks will leave for Washington, September 28, to attend Washington college. Mr. Carl Puryear will go to Chicago in October to take a course in dentistry. Mr. Cecil Lacy will leave shortly for the University of Virginia and Mr. Roscoe Reed will spend the coming winter in an Oxford, Ohio school.

WHOLESOMENESS OF SWEETS.

The following on the wholesomeness of sweets, will prove a good argument for the Paducah young women, with a penchant for Hayler's and other appetizing dainties, inclined to be tabooed, by health enthusiasts: The value of sugar as an energy-producing food has been widely noticed of late, and no doubt the sale of candy increased thereby. Sweet chocolate and bread is considered a wholesome lunch for school children, but it need not be said that it is a lunch and not a "bite between meals." Figs and dates have much the same value as sustaining foods, yet how few people use them. Raisins, too, afford both nourishment and stimulant.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Some of the young society men gave the last park dance of the season at Wallace park pavilion Tuesday evening. The guests were: Mesdames W. J. Hills, J. B. Doris, C. B. Hatfield, Ben Weille, Bob Reeves, Friedman, of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McElwee, Misses Ethel Morrow, Martha Leech, Ruth Weil, Louise Cox, Helen Decker, Lillie Mae Winstead, Frances Terrell, Manie Cobb, Beulah Rogers, Elizabeth Sinnott, Hallie Hisey, Fannie Coleman, Henrietta Koger, Faith Langstaff, Blanche Hills, Corinne Winstead, Messrs. ## THE OFFICIAL ORDER

Gen. Briggs Formally Notifies the Hosts in Gray.

The Indications Are for a Large and Enthusiastic Meeting of Confederates.

THE DETAILS OF REUNION

The following order has been issued by General J. B. Briggs, of Russellville, who was here recently in connection with the Confederate reunion and encampment in October:

Headquarters Second Kentucky Brigade, U. C. V., Russellville, Ky., September 8, 1903—General order No. 15. At the reunion of this brigade at Owensboro in the fall of 1902, which was a very pleasant occasion, it was voted unanimously:

First—That this brigade would hold an annual reunion in the fall of each year.

Second—A committee composed of the commander and the six majors of the two regiments was appointed to select time and place.

Third—J. T. Walbert, Camp 463, of Paducah, Ky., has invited the brigade to hold its reunion this year with them, and the good people of Paducah, on the 15th and 16th of October, 1903, and this invitation has been accepted.

Fourth—They invite the 25 camps composing this brigade and all worthy Confederate soldiers to meet with them on the 15th and 16th of October, to renew old associations and friendships.

Fifth—Your commander and Major R. W. Crabb, chairman of the committee, have been to Paducah and consulted with its camp and people in regard to the reunion and have agreed upon details.

Sixth—The Paducah camp and its people propose to give free bed and board, and the city railway company free car fare to all Confederate soldiers attending the reunion wearing the regular badge furnished to them either by the adjutant of the camp or the badge committee.

Seventh—The commander or adjutant of each camp will compile a roster of all members of his camp before reaching Paducah; present the same to the badge committee; secure the number of badges his camp is entitled to and give them only to such men as have a right to them. Special badges will be given to families of soldiers and those who aid in the reunion, that will give them privileges on the occasion.

Eighth—The reunion will be held at the fair grounds on the line of the street cars. Cots with ample bedding will be placed in the floral hall, which is fully protected from the weather with electric lights, bathing and sanitary arrangements free. Meals will be furnished in this hall.

Ninth—A short parade will take place at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of the 16, notice of route and details to be furnished on the 15th.

Tenth—The steamboat lines have granted a half fare rate to all who attend the reunion, and it is expected that the railroad lines will give an equally fair rate.

Eleventh—Prominent ex-Confederate soldiers—General H. B. Lyon, Colonel W. C. P. Breckinridge, Will Ellis and Polk Lafoon—have been asked to deliver addresses on the occasion.

Twelfth—It is urgently requested that all comrades come in uniform as far as possible, and that each camp bring its old Confederate battleflags and guidons.

Thirteenth—the staff officers of this brigade are requested to come to the parade in uniform and mounted.

Fourteenth—It has been suggested that camps of the First regiment and the Seventh regiment of this brigade select delegates, one for each twenty men or fraction of twenty men, to vote for field officers of these regiments to serve for next year.

Fifteenth—A campfire will be held at headquarters at 7 o'clock p. m., the 15th, where five minute talks—historical, humorous, pathetic, ludicrous, incidental, personal—will be permitted.
